An important "Y" meeting will be held this evening. Miss Jessie Morgan, state superintendent of "Y" work, will be present. Let every "Y" and honorary be there. Miss Morgan, who is the state superintendent of "Y" work and also one of the national superintendents, of which there are three, arrived this morning and will remain until after the 'Y" conference, which will be held in the Methodist church April 1 and 2.

A unique entertainment, for the benefit of the Humane Society, and decidedly different from anything ever given in this part of Ohio before, will be presented on the evenings of April I7 and 18, under the direction of Miss Charlotte Allen, of Boston. It will consist of dramatic art tableaux, in which 100 characters will take part. The costumes will be extremely elegant. Further particuulars will be furnished later.

Mr. W. K. L. Warwick was spoken to this morning in reference to the alleged highly sensational telegraphic correspondence said to have passed between ex-President Cleveland and Congressman MACQUEARYISM'S Warwick prior to the election last Nova ember, and in which Mr. Cleveland is charged with having declined to come into the Sixteenth district unless Mr. Warwick would guarantee that he would carry the district by at least 2,000 majority over McKinley. The congressman's son laughed at the story as published; said he knew everything that went on as far as his father's campaign was concerned, and was positive that nothing of the kind ever occurred,

THE DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY.

Hot Fight for Commissioner-The Invincible Limbach Retired.

As was remarked in Saturday's issue, the struggle at the Democratic primary was a spirited one; in, fact, there was probably never so exciting a contest among the local unterrified as was then witnessed. The main fight was for street commissioner, although the strife was greatly animated for city treasurer and township trustee, each candidate for the three offices being at work in person and having his efforts ably seconded by from one to a dozen workers. For street commissioner, Louis Limbach, present in-cumbent, was the favorite, being the choice against the field; but the party probably thought he had been amply rewarded for party fealty by ten year's service in a lucrative office, and that it was high time some new blood was in fused into the active wing of the party by injecting it into the sinecures.

The total number of votes cast in the four wards was 916, and in the city and Massillon precinct 984. At the Democratic primaries a year ago 834 votes were cast in the city and 939 in the city and Massillon precinct.

Appended is the complete ticket nominated, the vote received by each candidate being given for offices for which there was a contest.

Snatches of News from City and the Court House. Thieves looted a number of business houses last night. R. Bohlen, tailor, had $300 worth of goods taken, and several other places suffered smaller losses

Entrance in all cases was affected by prying doors and windows. No clue. Rinado Stein, the Carrollton man inured by the C. & C. railway, in this city everal days ago, while intoxicated, died last night after excruciating pain. The result of Saturday's primaries was the selection of ex-Auditor John N. Ramsey as the Republican candidate for mayor, Thomas F. Turner for solicitor, and an entire city ticket of unusual strength. The Democrats re-nominsted Mayor Blake after a hard fight, with P. J. Collins for solicitor. There are indications of a split over the re-nomination of Mr. Blake among those who are opposed to the third term idea. Mr. Collins nomination for solicitor was a surprise. He will need all he can get together to beat Turner, who made such a good run against Pomerene two years ago. Mr. Ramsey will make a strong opponent for Mr. Blake and with the present temper of the citibens he ought to win. Getting Right of Way.

Mr. P. L. Manly, so the Canton Repository says, representing the new company who propose to connect Canton and Massillon, is visiting property owners along the proposed route and the bolt had a nut on it or not that and securing the right of way. The route | morning; didn't examine the bolt. now under consideration is to go south on Cleveland avenue to Plum street to South, out South street to the new hospital and then north to the Massillon road. The residents visited have manifested great interest in the project and seem very willing to yield the right of way in front of their property.

Another New Church.

St. Joseph's church, Dr. Stafford, pas. tor, purchased this afternoon, by Attorney O. E. Young, the Metzler property, corner of South and East streets, consideration, $3 900. The lot is 147 feet on East street and 961 feet on South. A handsome church and residence are to be erected on this lot, early this sum-mer. While plans have not been mastured, it is altogether certain that a modern structure will be raised, the cost of which will approximate $35,000.

HE LEAVES HIS PARISH IN A DISORGANIZED STATE.

The Rev. E. L. Kemp Takes the Helm Again, and the Bishop will Preach on Good Friday-Church Finances in Disorder and the Parish in Debt.

Canton, March 23.—A new order of things was observed yesterday at St. Paul's Episcopat church. The Rev. Edward L. Kemp, of Massillon, through whose efforts before the engagement of the Rev. Howard MacQueary, the parish was infused with life, which it never possessed before, assumed the reins of command, and preached a cheery, helpful sermon in the asternoon, to a congregation quite large, considering that the service had not been announced in After service Mr. Kemp made very brief reference to the troubles in which the parish had become involved. He advised dropping discussion of all the painful events of the past, and nrged a re building as though the unnatural excitement had never been.

Interviews with officers of the church indicate that it has suffered severely under Mr. MacQueary's charge. The late rector, devoic of responsibity, and whithout business perceptions, permitted the temporal welfare of the parish to become impaired. There has been no election of vestrymen for two ears. A part of Mr. MacQueary's salary is still owing him, and a mortgage exists on the church lot adjoining the church, on which no interest has been paid for two years. In the up building of the church the first thing will be to hold an election on Easter Monday. Then Mr. Mac-Queary will be paid in full, and next the accrued interest will be disposed of.
Bishop Leonard will officiate on Good
Friday, and within a few weeks the Canton Episcopalians hope to have uprooted the last vestige of MacQuearvism, and to engraft in its stead a new interest in the historic church.

WAS THE RAILROAD IN FAULT? Coroner Openheimer Continues His Investigation.

Coroner Openheimer concluded, this afternoon, the taking of testimony in the inquest to ascertain the responsibility for the accidental death of Postal Clerk Wm. T. McLean in the W. & L. E. wreck at Navarre by the examination of witnesses at the depot in this city. The following additional evidence was secured, David B. Day, a Canton attorney, appearing for the railroad company, and Attorney W. M. Roach, of Alliance, representing the parents of McLean:

L. Wildeson, assistant roadmaster W. & L. E.—Live at Orrville. Was on the train when the wreck occurred, in the last seat of the rear coach. It was caused. by a broken switch rod. Was the first man at the switch after the accidentnot over three minutes after it occurred. Switch was two inches open and lower jaw of the rod broken off. Otherwise it was in good condition. The broken rod caused it to become disconnected. Can't say what caused it Don't know the condition of the switch prior to that time. The bolt was lying outside the rod. The bolt was all right. Did not find the nut of the bolt. Threads of the of were not worn to amount to anything. Trains passing over switch might break the rod. The passing of the train over ought not t have thrown the bolt out. The foremen has the bolt, I suppose. McLean was unconscious for on hour afterward Cross-examined by Mr. Day-Yes; if a man stood on the rod it would tend to tighten the bolt instead of throwing it ont. The fact that the bolt was without a nut had nothing to do with the accident. A kick on the bar could not throw the bolt out. Couldn't say what caused the break in the rod. Bar might have been broken just after the engine got over it -- it looks that way. Nails are put in switch to prevent trains from rattling in passing over. By Attorney Roach—Been assistant road master since Feb 15. Have been off and on in the frost twice since 1886 The braking of the switch rod caused the accident. THE NATIONAL GRANT.

will never be repeated.

At present the legislators at Columbus are contending over Ohio's portion of the late grant of money by the national government to the states, as a supplement to the act creating the agricultural colleges. Of the many excellent enactments of the last congress was the one appropriating a large sum of money for the benefit of agriculture and mechanic arts. Of this fund $25,000 falls to Ohio. The act provides that this money shall go to colleges established under the land grant college act of 1862, or in case a state enraptured listeners by easy. natural has established since then a college for the education of colored youth in the heart, and finally supplements tears erg and raw stock will be disposed of agriculture and mechanic arts, the for laughter, and from thence he passes legislature in accepting the fund may propose an equitable division for its benefit, the claims of such institution to be decided by the secretary of the interior within the provisions of the act. The provision with reference to colored 'students' colleges was to meet the condition of the South where educational institutions separate on the color line. But in Ohio there is no state institution for exclusive education of either race. It is true that the state has aided the normal and industrial department of Wilberforce Academy, a sectarian institution where colored students are educated, but such an institution was not within the purview of the act of congress. Upon statements presented to the secretary of the interior by the president of the academy, he has so decided. The Ohio State University is the one institution of Ohio established under the act of 1862. It is the only one for which the legislature can accept the appropriation, and still the Ohio senate rises and smends the bill accepting the whole for the state university giving half the grant to Wilberforce. To divert any of this No. 1 West Main street. fund to an illegal purpose is to endanger the whole grant. To give a tional olerase, and requires a constituportion of it to Wilberforce is certainly venturesome at least, as the act empowers the secretary of the interior to withhold the money if an kindness during recent bereavement. attempt be made to defeat the purpose of the act. THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Following Therefrom.

MR. EDITOR:-While not in sympathy with, nor endorsing the narrow prejudice of the Rev. Dr. Stafford, in his fling at the "so-called churches," yet now days we have too much of this matter of "marrying in haste and repenting at leisu e," for which, doubtless, the Protestant clergy are more or less responsiter to-day. As explained then, the ble in the very prompt way they have of performing the marriage ceremony over all who may come or send to them, young or old, sick or well, and no matter what hours of day or night—it seems to make no difference. We had a sample but a few years ago of a maiden of mature years marrying one of our townsmen, he on his death bed. This clergy man could apparently perform the ceremony without a twinge of conscience, but the words he pronounced, "Whom God hath joined together let no man put asunder." became the climax of a ceremony partaking of the nature of a hideous farce. Let the Protestant clergy pattern after the fashion of the Catholic clergy in respect to marriage. Go slower, and doubtless we shall hear less of divorce

> Thr writer of the above evidently has read the card written by the Rev. Mr. ing it as his own. Meyer, of Canton, part of which was published in THE INDEPENDENT of last Repository:

Mr. Fisher was an ardent Democrat-Marriage and Divorce and the Evils | ardent in principle and temperate in application. As a partiean he was respectful, and he was therefore respected. He was one of the founders of the local grange, and a firm believer that the agricultural class suffered from discrimination, which he, so far as his influence extended, labored to remove. He raised a large family, like himself, and kept the circle almost intact, there being today only one member not residing in this county. He had been a sufferer from chronic trouble for a long time, and

In accordance therewith, on Saturday morning, there was deposited with a Main street firm, by Bantz the sum of five dollars, to be paid to Crooks upon the tying of the aforesaid pony to a certain named hitching post. At the hour agreed to the pony was made fast, Crooks appeared and collected his bill and Pisso dropped around and collected his pony. In noting the great strides that have chines mauufactured by Russell & Co. as well as the methods of building them it would make a book to even briefly recount the manner in which the perfect eighteen or twenty men employed, and Mr Andrew Cox and others who have young men. The changes that have been made from time to time are the results of constant effort and careful observation, involving much labor and ex pense, a description of which does not belong in this article, as there is no purpose to cut the lines of prosperity by discussing dry and uninteresting details, which belong to the business only. Suffice to say, that many skilled men are constantly employed to keep the standard of the machinery produced up with the times, as in this, as well as every. thing slse, there is nothing accomplished without labor. Could those who, with Mr. Cox, used to saw and hew and mortice the timber for the old "Knock Out," with its wooden cylinder driven full of iron spikes, return now to withese a contest of the qualities of machines of different make upon one of the large fields of grain on the Pacific coast and see an excited crowd, with picked judges, determining the merits of the different machines in the number of bushels of grain separated in an hour with' the least waste, they would be more suprised than men would now be to see a successful air ship traveling the wide expanse of the Atlantic to the old world, for in these wonder ful times the greatest schemes are less impossible to the average mind than were achievements of less consequence, death was not unexpected

FEDERAL LICENSE.

SECRETARY NETTLETON DEFINES THE LAW ON THE SUBJECT,

For the Benefit of Internal Revenue Collectors Throughout the Country-A Change Made in the Form of the United States Stamp Issued to Retail Liquor Dealers.

WASHINGTON, March 23. - Secretary Nettleton, of the treasury department, makes public the following circular letter just sent to internal revenue collectors throughout the country: Letters are frequently received at the department stating that in many parts of the country retail liquor dealers claim to hold a permit or license from the United States for carrying on their business; that in many cases where local law prohibits public drinking places the law is openly violated by persons who claim to do business under at least the moral sanction of a "federal license," and that this fact, together with the belief common among many good citizens that the United States government does in fact issue such licenses. greatly retards the enforcement of wholesome restrictive laws and promotes disorder. It should be unneccessary to state that the United States government does not issue a license or permit of any nature to any person in any state to carry on the business of retail liquor dealer, and it is difficult to understand how any intelligent citizen can be imposed upon by the opposite claim. Congress having levied a revenue stamp tax of $25 per annum on the business of retail liquor dealer, the commissioner of internal revenue endeavors to collect this tax wherever and by whomsoever the business is carried on, but no semblance of permission, express or implied, is given by the United States government in its revenue laws or otherwise to begin or continue such business in any place contrary to state or local legislation.

A New Form of Stamp.

It was to make clear this purpose of carefully respecting state and local laws and police regulations prohibiting or restraining the liquor that congress enacted section 3243 of the revised statutes. In order that this purpose, as thus embodied in the law, may be authoritatively announced wherever the tax is collected a change has been made in the form of the United States stamp issued to retail liquor dealers as evidence that they have paid such tax. The new form, which will go into use July 1 next, reads as follows:

United States stamp for special tax, internal revenue.

Received from — the sum of — dollars for special tax on the business of retail liquor dealer, at — for the period represented by the soupon or coupons hereto attached.

sensational disclosures, and that back of every statement of importance he has produced unquestionable documentary evidence that will verify it.

And across the face of the stamp is inscribed the following statement embracing the substance of section 3243 of the revised statutes:

This stamp is simply a receipt for a tax due the government and does not exempt the holder from any penalty or punishment provided for by the law of any state for carrying on the said business within such state, and does not authorize the commencement nor the continuance of such business contrary to the laws of such state or in places prohibited by municipal law. See section 3243 revised statutes, United States.

It is believed that this action will leave no ground for further misappre-

TRIAL OF CHARLES KINCAID.

A Plea of Self-Defense to be Made-Brief Review of the Tragedy.

WASHINGTON, March 23.—The trial of Charles E. Kincaid for the killing of ex-Congressman Taulbee, of Kentucky, opened this morning. The trial attracts widespread attention, as the witnesses come from such distant and widely come from the such distant and widely come from t separated parts of the country as Massachusetts, New York, Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Alabama and Louisiana. Mr. Taulbee was shot on Feb. 28, 1890, and died in the following month. shooting grew out of a trouble which had existed between him and Kincaid for nearly two years and it was started by the publication by Kincaid, who was a resident newspaper correspondent, of an article about Taulbee of a sensational character. This story appeared one morning in the newspapers of Washington, and as it concerned Kentucky people Kincaid, who represented The Louisville Times, an afternoon paper, telegraphed it to that paper, as well as to The New York Morning Journal, one of the papers wiring him for the story. The two affidavits filed in the criminal court relating to the summoning of witnesses indicate that the plea of self-defense will be made, as it is stated that the witnesses are to prove that Taulbee had made threats against Kincaid. Twenty-five witnesses for the government and about the same number for the defense will probably cause the trial to be prolonged for a week at

DEATH OF GEN. JOHNSTON.

After Three Weeks' Illness the Confederate General Passes Away.

WASHINGTON, March 23. - General Joseph E. Johnston died shortly after 11 o'clock Saturday night at his residence on Connecticut avenue. The general had been suffering for the past three weeks with an affection of the heart, aggravated by a cold he caught soon after Gen. Sherman's funeral in New York. Gen. Johnston was the last, save Gen. Beauregard, of the six full generals of the confederacy. He was born at Cherry Grove, Va., in 1807, and was graduated from West Point in 1829, in the same class with Robert E. Lee. He served through the Mexican and civil

FASHIONS FOR CHILDREN

FABRICS WHICH THEY MAY AND MAY NOT WEAR.

Olive Harper Writes About Genuine American and the Latest French Ways of Making Garments for the Little Ones, but Most Approves the Former.

[Special Correspondence.] New York, March 19.-Here is fashion letter all for the children. Goods for them are just the same as for big sisters and mothers, with the exception of rich silks and brocades or satins. These are not suitable at all for children alone, but some of the lighter qualities are occasionally used as trimmings. Little girls can wear Foulard silks, plaid surahs and India and China printed silks, and for full dress occasions crepe de Chine with delicate oriental lace is seen, and is pretty too.

TRUE AMERICAN STYLES.

The pretty shepherds' plaids and other woolen plaids are very useful for every day, and can be purchased for from twenty-five cents to one dollar a yard. It is good economy for the mother or big sister to get a yard of material more than. she needs for her own gown, and this, with the scraps left over, will make a full dress for a little girl of six. It now only takes six yards of wide material for an ordinary sized lady's dress, and seven vards would by careful cutting get a dress for a little girl, too, particularly if a gimp could be made of something else.

A very pretty gown for a young girl of about fourteen could be made like one I noticed in a store where all the fashion writers go to find ideas, and it was of hazel cashmere, laid in kilt from waist to bottom. The sleeves and part of the waist were two shades darker, and the drapery drawn across the waist was outlined in herringbone in green silk. A town will go dry after April 1. Licenses lined in herringbone in green silk. A brown ribbon was tied around the waist. This is a little dress that could be copied in any non-washable material.

The pouting little sister wears a plaid poplin in brown and fawn, with trimmings of dark green velvet, while the little tot who stands repentant with a chubby finger in her mouth wears a pale blue wash surah over a gimp of dark blue. The plaits have a little embroidery in red silk. These two dresses, however, could be as appropriately made in gingham or any other seasonable wash

Among the prettiest and most satisfactory of the wash fabrics for children are the cotton challies. They are in fast colors, and do not require starch in for four cents a yard.

All the ginghams and cotton goods should be made up with extreme neatness, which stamps them with a certain distinction at once.

While the plain Greenaway styles are better liked by all wise and really tasteful mothers, there always will be some parents who prefer the Paris fashions for children. These are usually made with very short and very full skirts, making the wearer look like a doll baby, yet some few of them are pretty and childish. One little dress for a baby of six was made of almond colored cashmere with a fringed sash of velvet; cuffs, collar and underskirt were all of prons in fanciful and dainty designation we more often seen upon children of the best families with their best costumes than before for a long time, and now i is quite admissible for them to be worn on visits and at home as well as at school well they always look so sweet and fresh the the fashion never ought to have died OLIVE HARPER

ITALIANS IN SECRET SESSION

At New Orleans, but it is Not Known What Action Was Taken. NEW ORLEANS, March 23.-The promised expose of the Mafia plot which ended in the assassination of Chief Hennessy by Sunzeri and Natali, two of the Italian prisoners now in jail, has caused a great deal of excitement in the Italian quarter. Yesterday a secret meeting was held in an old building near Congo square, which was attended by a hundred Italians, who discussed the report for nearly one hour. The police have information that the subject of Saturday's lynching was taken up and certain phases of it debated, but they have not been able to learn whether or not any threats were made. It is claimed that both Sunzeri and Natali have already told the most of their story to Attorney General Rogstory ers and to members of the committee of safety and that they have consented to repeat it to the grand jury whenever that body gets ready to have them. When the grand jury resumes its inquiry into the jury-bribing matter it will have the stories of the Hennessy jurors who have been accused of having been bribed by O'Malley. The object of this investigation, it is given out now, is to get at all the men who were associated with O'Malley, and particularly the ones who are believed to have employed him to fix

Governor Nicholls' long expected reply to Secretary Blaine's telegram demanding a report of the Saturday uprising has been written at last and left for Washington in Saturday night's mail. NEBRASKA'S DEADLOCK.

Members Dining and Sleeping in the Senate Chamber.

LINCOLN, NEB., March 23.-There is no change in the senatorial deadlock and nothing new regarding the missing man, Taylor. Members continue to utilize the senate chamber as a dining and sleeping room. If they are weary of their self-imposed imprisonment they make no outward manifestation or complaints. Both the Republicans and Democrats will make overtures to the Independents in the way of a proposed compromise to the obnoxious maximum freight rate bill, pledging themselves to aid in the passage of a measure de-manded by the people but less harsh in its restrictions than the one now pending. The indications are, however, that it will not be accepted. But five more days of session remain in the senate and one in the house.

A CORRECTION.

It will appear that the balance on hand March 20, 1890, as shown by last year's report, was $5, 936,74. It should have read $7,673,32. The blunder was caused by the fuition for the month of November, 1889, having been entered upon the cash book twice, the amount being $1,736.58, and was not discovered until after the report was printed, showing our balance on hand just the month's tuition less than it should have been—the true balance being the same as starts this report of 1891, $7,673 3.
